

What will Athens-Clarke County look like in 20 years?

This question is helping guide the ACCGov Planning Department in leading a process over the next year to help make decisions about how our community will grow. The first step involves creating a Growth Concept Map this fall. This broad-scale map uses data such as existing land uses, community input, demographic trends, the natural environment, and other factors to provide a broad overview of how areas could grow – or change – over time. Once complete, we will present those findings to the community and then dig in at a finer scale in 2024 to create a Future Land Use Map.

Growth Concept Map Public Engagement

Residents are invited to a variety of public engagement opportunities including interactive sit-down sessions, neighborhood walks, bus tours, and tabling events. These will be hosted from late September through October at various times. The hourlong events will be family-friendly, interactive, and at locations near you.

Please join us in shaping our community together and working to understand the variety of concepts, tools, and policies that will guide the future of Athens-Clarke County.
